CELEBRITY CHEF AND RESTAURANTEUR MARCUS SAMUELSSON TO GIVE A HEALTHY COOKING DEMONSTRATION AND TASTING AT THE CHILDREN’S MUSEUM OF MANHATTAN ON JULY 19

Acclaimed chef, restauranteur, TV personality and author Marcus Samuelsson will do a healthy cooking demonstration and tasting for kids and families at the Children’s Museum of Manhattan (212 West 83rd Street) on Friday, July 19 at 2 pm.

During the interactive demo, attendees will learn tips and tricks for cooking and eating healthy from the James Beard Award-winning chef and also enjoy sampling some of his favorite dishes and treats.

Due to limited space, this program requires you to sign-up for entry. Sign-up in the lobby one hour before the event. This program is free with museum admission.

The event is part of the museum’s brand new monthly Simmer and Sizzle Chef Series for kids and families. Participants discover creative ways of using affordable ingredients to make simple, healthy and delicious dishes and snacks with visiting chefs. They also get to taste a variety of foods and learn different cooking techniques as they explore the benefits of healthy eating.

Funding for this program is provided by Morgan Stanley Foundation.
