

JAM BAND SING-A-LONG WITH THE POP UPS

IDEAL AGE: 3+

Create your own instruments to play along with The Pop Ups during Lincoln Center's Concerts For Kids!

LEARN TOGETHER

Playing instruments helps your child develop physical coordination and experience their environment using their senses! Making instruments out of everyday objects is a creative way to recycle while reducing our environmental footprint.

MATERIALS

Cardboard banjo

- Paper plate or small cardboard box
- Rubber bands
- Paper towel tube

Plastic wrap drum

- Empty can or bowl
- Plastic wrap or wax paper
- Tape or rubber band

MAKE TOGETHER

The Grammy-nominated duo of Jason Rabinowitz and Jacob Stein make up The Pop Ups. Enjoy their Lincoln Center ConcertsForKids performance of zany, fun-filled songs, including live drawing, music, and puppetry.

Join CMOM to create zany musical instruments to play along with The Pop Ups.

Cardboard banjo

- 1 Find a paper plate or small cardboard box. If using a cardboard box, cut the top off so it only has 5 sides.
- 2 Stretch 6 rubber bands around it.
- 3 Tape a paper towel tube to one end to make it into a banjo!
- 4 Pluck the rubber band strings to make sounds!
- 5 Try plucking them fast, slow, all together, and one at a time.
- 6 Use this instrument to play along with The Pop Ups!

Plastic wrap drum

- 1 Use an empty can or bowl to create a drum.
- 2 Stretch plastic wrap or wax paper over the top.
- 3 Use a rubber band or tape the wrap around the edge of the can or bowl to keep it tight.
- 4 Gently hit your drum to make a beat. Try hitting your drum one hand at a time. Can you play it with a slow or fast beat?
- 5 Now you are ready to jam along with The Pop Ups!
